The Massachusetts Department of Correction Jurisdiction Population

The population covered in this report, termed the 'jurisdiction population', includes any criminally sentenced inmate released from a Massachusetts Department of Correction facility as well as DOC inmates released from other correctional facilities. Under this definition, DOC inmates released from Massachusetts' Houses of Correction, other states' correctional facilities and the Federal Bureau of Prisons during 2003 are also included in the population. The population described in this report includes the following:

- Individuals released via parole or good conduct discharge to other jurisdictions including another state, federal authority, or immigration
- Individuals released to another sentence at the Department of Correction or a Massachusetts House of Correction
- Individuals released to a civil commitment at the Department of Correction
- Individuals released to a warrant
- Individuals sentenced to the Department of Correction, subsequently transferred to another correctional authority, and thereafter released
- Individuals transferred from another state, Federal authority, or county correctional facility and afterward released from a DOC facility

Executive Summary

MA DOC 2003 Jurisdiction Release Population

- The total number of criminally sentenced individuals released from the jurisdiction of the Department of Correction in 2003 was 2,974, a decrease of 265 total releases (-8%) from 2002. The breakdown by gender was 2,039 males (69%) and 935 females (31%). The number of males released in 2003 decreased by 265 (-12%) from the previous year while the number of females released remained the same.
- Of the 2,974 inmates released in 2003, half were Caucasian (50%), 25% were African American inmates and 23% were Hispanic. A higher percentage of the female release population was Caucasian (71%) compared to the male population that was split between Caucasian (40%), African American (30%) and Hispanic (28%).
- The mean (average) age of an inmate released in 2003 was 35.2 years, ranging from 18 to 78 years of age. The mean (average) age at incarceration was 31.4 years, ranging from 15 to 72 years of age. On average, female inmates were older than males at the time of incarceration; 33.2 years versus 30.6 years, and younger at the time of release with females averaging 33.9 years and males 35.8 years.
- The majority of the 2003 release population, 53%, reported American culture followed by 15% Puerto Rican. There was a significant difference in culture between the male and female release populations. The vast majority of males were American (68%) compared with only 23% of females. Nearly 25% of the female release population was Irish compared with only 1% of males.
- The primary language of 87% of the 2003 release population was English, followed by 13% reporting Spanish as their primary language.
- Sixty-three percent of the 2003 release population was reportedly single (69% males, 49% females). Fourteen percent were divorced (14% males, 13% females) and 12% were married (13% males, 11% females).
- Nineteen percent of the release population for 2003 reported a last known address located in Suffolk County (with 17% listing the city of Boston as their prior residence), followed by 16% from Worcester County, 14% from Middlesex County, and 11% from Essex County.
- Forty-two percent of the 2003 release population served a sentence for a Violent offense, 33% of which was for a Person Offense and 9% for a Sex Offense. Non-violent offenders made up the remaining 58% of the release population. Of these offenders 29% were incarcerated for a Drug offense, 17% for Property offenses and 12% for Other offenses.
- Forty percent of males released in 2003 served a sentence for a Person offense followed by 29% serving a sentence for a Drug offense, 13% for a Property offense, 13% for a Sex offense, and 4% for Other offenses. Of the females released from the MA DOC in 2003, 30% served a sentence for Other offenses, 28% for a Drug offense, 26% for a Property offense, and 16% for a Person offense.
- The most common offense a female released in 2003 was sentenced for was Larceny/Stealing (10%) followed by Possession of a Controlled Substance (10%), OUI (8%), and Prostitution (7%), all of which are non-violent offenses. Nearly 15% of males released in 2003 served sentences for Armed Robbery, followed by Unarmed Burglary/Breaking & Entering (7%), Assault/Assault & Battery with a Dangerous Weapon (6%), and Class A Possession with Intent to Distribute (5%).

- Of the 855 inmates released from the MA DOC in 2003 that served a governing sentence for a Drug offense, 405 (47%) served mandatory sentences. Over half of the males (63%) and 13% of females sentenced for Drug offenses served sentences for offenses carrying mandatory sentence terms.
- The majority of women (86%) released in 2003 were committed from district courts while nearly all males (96%) were sentenced out of a superior court. Twenty-one percent of males were committed from Suffolk Superior Court followed by 15% from Hampden Superior Court, 13% from Middlesex Superior Court, and 12% from Worcester Superior Court.
- Ninety-two percent of males released in 2003 served state sentences while the majority of women (90%) served county sentences. Thirty-five percent of all inmates released in 2003 served time for one offense, 22% served two sentences, 14% served three sentences, and 29% served more than three sentences. (Please see glossary definition of Sentence Count for more detail)
- Sixty-six percent of females served sentences with a maximum term of less than one year. A significant number of males (44%) served sentences between 3 and 6 years. Eight percent of males released in 2003 served sentences with maximum terms of 20 years or more and 1% served Life sentences.
- Fifty-three percent of all releases were released to the street through good conduct discharge or expiration of sentence and 26% were paroled to the street. The remaining 21% were released to other jurisdictions (i.e. state, federal, county, immigration, civil commitment, or warrants). Of the 2,974 releases in 2003, 2,358 (79%) were released to the street.
- Of the 2,358 releases to the street, 67% were released via good conduct discharge or expiration of sentence and 33% were paroled. Eighty-two percent of all females and 78% percent of males were released to the street in 2003. A slightly higher percentage of males were released to the street via good conduct discharge than females; 68% versus 65% leaving 35% of females and 32% of males paroled to the street.
- Excluding inmates with complex sentences, the average time served for females with state sentences was 3.1 years (or 37.1 months), and 5 years (59.4 months) for males. Again, excluding those with complex sentences, 63% of females that served county sentences served less than 6 months. Time served calculations include jail credit days earned for time held while awaiting trial. Nearly 80% of females released in 2003 earned 50 days or less credit while 21% of males earned more than 300 days.
- The average time served by inmates released in 2003 who served a governing sentence for a violent offense was 5.3 years (or 63.2 months); 1.3 years (or 15.9 months) for females, 5.8 years (or 69.5 months) for males. The average time served by inmates released in 2003 who served a governing sentence for a non-violent offense was 2.3 years (or 27.7 months); 6.5 months for females, 3.7 years (or 44.2 months) for males. These calculations are based on all inmates that served state, county, reformatory, or out-of-state/federal sentences released in 2003 (excluding those that served complex sentences).
- Nearly 75% of releases in 2003 were from secure facilities, while the remaining 21% were from lower security facilities and 5% from county facilities and other state/federal facilities. Eighty-two percent of all females were released from a secure facility (MCI-Framingham). Seventy-two percent of all males were released from a secure facility, 12% from a maximum security facility and 60% from a medium security facility. The highest percentage of males (16%) was released from MCI-Shirley (Medium), followed by 11% released from MCI-Concord, and 10% from MCI-Norfolk.

Highlights & Trends Releases from the MA DOC 1997-2003

- The overall release population decreased by 23% from 1997 to 2003. Compared to 2002, the overall population decreased by 8% but the male release population decreased by 12% while the female release population remained unchanged. In 2003 females represented 31% of all releases from the MA DOC whereas in 1997 females comprised 26% of the total release population.
- The total release population has been on the decline since 1999. Even with the decline, on average inmates released to the street via GCD represented between 52% and 54% of all releases while the proportion released via parole hovered between 26% and 28% during this time frame. Releases to other jurisdictions comprised between 18% and 21% of the release population.
- There was a 25% decrease in the number of inmates released to the street from 1997 to 2003. When looking exclusively at inmates released to the street, the proportion released via GCD compared to parole remained a consistent 67% to 33% split for the past 4 years.
- The number of inmates released each year under the age of 40 decreased steadily from 1997 to 2003. The number of males released under the age of 40 dropped 41% and the number of females in the same age group declined 14%. Males age 40 and over released between 1997 and 2003 increased by 16% and females by 31% even though the number of releases each year has decreased.
- Between 1997 and 2003 the number of inmates released from a maximum security facility increased 65%. Meanwhile, medium security facilities released 12% fewer inmates in 2003 than in 1997 and lower security facilities witnessed a 51% decrease in the number of releases during this time.
- The number of inmates released from a life sentence in 2003 was 49% lower than the number of lifers released in 2002; 43 to 22 respectively.
- The average time served by inmates sentenced for a governing sex offense or drug offense was longer in 2003 than 2002. Males released from a governing sex offense in 2003 served an average of 11.6 months longer than sex offenders released in 2002. On average, males released in 2003 served 2.4 months longer and females served 1.5 months more for a drug offense than those released from a drug offense the previous year.
- The number of male inmates released from reformatory sentences decreased dramatically by 76% from 1997 to 2003. This is due to the elimination of reformatory sentences under the Truth in Sentencing reform of July 1994. The number of males released from the MA DOC serving county sentences also dropped 76% during this time period but the number released from state prison sentences only declined 16%. In 1997 the proportion of male inmates released from a state prison sentence comprised 77% of the population. By 2003, 92% of male releases served state prison sentences.
- In 2003, 5% fewer inmates were released to the city of Boston than in the previous year. There was also an 8% decrease in the number of releases to Worcester. Springfield, on the other hand, witnessed a 4% increase in the number of inmates released to the city. The most dramatic increase was the number of releases to Fitchburg jumping 67% from 39 inmates in 2002 to 65 in 2003.

Introduction

This report is a statistical description of releases from the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts Department of Correction (DOC) during the 2003 calendar year. This report, in conformity with past release reports, includes those individuals who were released to the street by the authority of the Parole Board, by expiration of sentence, or by a certificate of discharge.

However, commencing with the 1997 report, the DOC release report also includes:

- ⇒ Individuals released via parole or good conduct discharge to other jurisdictions including another state, federal authority, or immigration
- ⇒ Individuals released to another sentence at the Department of Correction or a Massachusetts House of Correction
- ⇒ Individuals released to a civil commitment at the Department of Correction
- ⇒ Individuals released to a warrant
- ⇒ Individuals sentenced to the Department of Correction, subsequently transferred to another correctional authority, and thereafter released to the street
- ⇒ Individuals transferred from another state, Federal authority, or county correctional facility and afterward released from a DOC facility

Excluded from this report are Bridgewater State Hospital and Massachusetts' Alcohol & Substance Abuse Center civil commitments and detainees who were released during the year. (Criminally sentenced inmates released from these facilities are included.) Civil commitments and detainees were excluded for the following reasons:

The reporting system for civilly committed inmates is not as extensive as that for the criminally sentenced population, therefore the majority of the data would fall into the "not reported" category in the tables.

Individuals who are awaiting trial or are pre-trial detainees have not been sentenced. They can not be considered jurisdiction population for this report. Also, because they are not sentenced, limited information is available about this population.

Also excluded from this report are individuals who were released by a court order, those who may have escaped from a DOC facility, or inmates who died in custody. Individuals who were released more than once during 2003 are counted as separate cases.

This report presents tables that contain information on all release types listed above with respect to personal background characteristics, the nature of the current offense, and release characteristics for these individuals. All tables are broken down by gender. The fourth section of this report displays trend information within the MA DOC jurisdiction population over a seven-year span from 1997 to 2003.

The data contained in this report was derived from the inmate database maintained by the Department of Correction. Please note that much of the personal background data of the offenders was self-reported. Also, individuals may be incarcerated for multiple offenses. The offense reported is that which is associated with the sentence that governs the inmate's maximum discharge date. Also note that due to rounding some percentages may not add up to 100%. Please refer to the Glossary in the back of the report for the definition of terms and offenses used throughout the report.

Glossary

Age At Incarceration	Age at incarceration for current sentence. Jail credits are not considered when calculating age at incarceration.
Complex Sentence	For the 'time served' variable, this category includes parole and probation violators, offenders who were originally committed to another authority, and offenders serving a forthwith, split, fine, or from and after sentence.
Court from Which Committed	The court listed is the court from which an inmate was originally sentenced not necessarily the court associated with the sentenced served (i.e. From & After Sentences). Inmates serving county sentences are included in the appropriate court from which they were originally sentenced. Boston Municipal Court is included with the District Court category, as well as other former Municipal courts; District courts are lower courts of all counties.
Current Offense	Inmates may be incarcerated for multiple offenses. The offense reported is that associated with the longest maximum discharge date. Offense labels can be found in the Appendix and are listed in alphabetical order by offense category.

Sentence/Sentence Type
State Prison Sentence	Prior to the “Truth in Sentencing” law, if an offender is sentenced to the State Prison, except for life or as an habitual criminal, the court shall not fix the term of imprisonment, but shall fix a maximum and minimum term for which he/she may be imprisoned. The minimum term shall not be less than two and a half years. All sentences which have a finite maximum term are eligible to have the term reduced by statutory good time, except for most sex offenses, crimes committed while confined and certain “mandatory” sentences. In the “new law”, all state sentences have a minimum and a maximum term, unless an inmate is sentenced for life or as a habitual criminal. The minimum term is used to determine parole eligibility, and the maximum term is used to determine discharge.

	Under both the “old” and “new” sentencing systems, an inmate is discharged from his/her sentence at the expiration of his term, less any statutory or earned good time. Under the “new” system none of the reduction will be attributable to statutory good time.
Reformatory Sentence	Prior to the “Truth in Sentencing” law, males and females can be sentenced to a Reformatory sentence (an indefinite term) indicated by a maximum term. For MCI- Concord, a male not previously sentenced for a felony more than three times, convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment in any correctional institution of the Commonwealth or by imprisonment in a jail or House of Correction may be sentenced for an indefinite term. Concord may confine misdemeanor offenders as well as those who commit felonies. A female convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment in a House of Correction, may be sentenced to the Massachusetts Correctional Institution-Framingham. In addition to those women who commit felonies, MCI-Framingham may confine female misdemeanor offenders. The “new” law eliminates “Concord” (or Framingham) sentences to the state reformatory.
House of Correction Sentences	Also known as “County Sentences”. Prior to the “Truth in Sentencing” law, if an offender is sentenced to the House of Correction, the term shall be two and a half years or less. Parole eligibility and discharge are based on the maximum term of a sentence. Under the “new” law, discharge on this sentence will change because of the elimination of statutory good time. There is no change in the parole eligibility date.
Other State, Federal	This category is used for inmates who were received by the DOC from another state correctional agency or the Federal Bureau of Prisons, whose sentences are not relevant to the Massachusetts General Laws.
Type of Sentence	In past reports, this variable represented the type of sentence received by the inmate such as Aggregate, Concurrent, Fine, Forthwith, From and After, Simple, or Split. Due to changes in the database, the Type of Sentence variable is no longer available in such detail. Consequently it is no longer reported. However, the variable sentence type (i.e. state prison, reformatory, and house of correction) is reported.
Violent Offense	Any offense that falls under the person or sex offense categories.
